As soon as the verdict of the jury was announced last evening acquitting Joe Tinker of the charge of larceny, another warrant was served on him charging him with burglary, and he was returned to his former quarters in the jail. The crime is alleged to have been committed at Congress and deputy sheriff Pete Boscha took him down on this afternoon's train for his preliminary examination.—Journal Miner.

The United States officers who have been engaged in the stull business recently have placed the government's brand on 12,500 now and estimate that they have about 5,000 more to brand. The number originally estimated was only 11,500 so that new suits will be commenced for the confiscation of the others. One of the officials who has been engaged in this work for the past ten days says that no idea can be obtained of the condition of the mountains from where these stulls were taken except by going to see them. He says the nearest description he can come to giving of it is as if a Kansas tornado had struck it. The trees are cut down and big logs are taken from it and in the majority of instances the balance of the tree is permitted to remain as it fell.—Journal Miner.

The inhabitants of Camp Verde who have been living rent free in Uncle Sam's houses will have a rude awakening on the 3rd of August. The post will pass into the hands of private parties on that date, and private parties will hardly be as gracious as the government. The place will be sold to the highest bidder, in forty acre tracts, of which there are four. One of these includes all the buildings of the post but two, both of which are on a second tract. Two of the tracts contain several acres of good land, but the major portion of the ground raises only rocks. —Jerome Reporter.
